Freedom is a hard-bought thing
A gift no man can give.
For some a way of dying ...
For most, a way to live.

Exploring Spheres of Growth

Freedom cannot be measured; yet it has boundaries. One of these boundaries is the physical self, another the maturing personality. Life does not stand still; without growth, freedom could not explore its boundaries.

During four years of growth Titans saw the campus change from winter bareness to springtime beauty. Shorty freshmen sprouted into tall seniors. Titans made new friends and gained new understandings. Students learned to accept defeat without bitterness, or to win without conceit. With academic growth, Techites saw that just getting by wasn't good enough. They gained the knowledge that to succeed, one must test the outer limits of his abilities.

Struggling through the highs and lows of growing, many discovered at Tech A WAY TO LIVE.

Look-alikes Randy Brown, senior and brother Mike, freshman, exemplify physical growth during four years at Tech.

Seeking New Horizons in Moments of Discovery

Techites discovered new sights and sounds as they joined in the hustle and bustle of campus life. Squirrels scampering about, the pinks and greens that adorn the campus in spring, the crispness of a freshly painted classroom, brought to many the realization of the growth and change taking place on Tech grounds. Confident, excited tones echoed through the halls as pupils voiced opinions on topics ranging from hippies to the war in Viet Nam. As Titans matured they discovered doors to open and new worlds to explore.

"Confusement" reigns as freshies study a roll room distribution chart posted on the door of the Main. Said one freshie to another, "I know my room number but is it in Treadwell Hall, the Arsenal, Stuart Hall, or the Cafeteria-Music Building?"

When a frosting of snow makes the campus a winter wonderland, Techites on their daily trek between classes find the Tech way to live invigorating, if rugged.

Aren't those red drums wild? High steppin' strutter Marilyn Frost dances in the Forum for the 1968 Mardi Gras.

Building Self Confidence Through Participation

For Tech students participation meant to join a club, to volunteer in class, in short to give something of themselves. As they became involved in Red Cross Club, the Cheer Block, Techites participated with the headlong vigor of youth. Sharing, being partners in doing, whether emphasizing a point in class debate or constructing decorations for Mardi Gras, Titans reaped from all activities what they put into them.

Rank upon rank, the Majorettes await their cue at the Broad Ripple game September 13.

The band blasts off to an early morning pep session. Marching around campus they are cheered on by a throng of enthusiastic fans, falling into line, hoping for a glimpse of the team.

Varsity and Reserve Cheerleaders, grit their teeth as they strive to build a human pyramid. From top to bottom are: Linda Chapman, Barbara Frost, Mary Jones, Elaine Thrasher, Karen Spaw, Susie Cutshaw, Joyce Washington, Marsha Shewman, Debbie Fishburn, and Karen Darland. Happy landings, girls!

Participating in an early morning round of hopscotch which proved both exciting and enjoyable for several Tech students, Linda Brady, Lee Ann Eads, Eugenia Smith, Leonard Jones, and Kathy Volstad, strive to score before the bell.

Even examination day can be enjoyable when the teacher asks the right questions. And what gives more zest than passing a test? Ask any chemistry pupil the day afterward.

Participation with Enjoyment

Participation with enjoyment—Techites found that even school was fun as the multiple activities at Tech offered an escape from the doldrums of academic life.

Soul sessions at games and dances glowed with youthful exuberance as Titans grooved with the beat. Interludes between classes offered opportunities for gab sessions, and for the sale of wares such as badges, candy, and greeting cards to finance special projects.

In gourmet competition, this garnished ham won third place at the Culinary Arts Show in October. Its three artists in Commercial Foods classes are Michael Spencer, Walter Stewart, and Charles Jackson X. Sponsored by the Indiana Restaurant Association, competition included chiefly professional entries. The show was held at the Fairgrounds in October.

After many competitive weeks of begging and pleading to diet-minded Techites, top band candy salesman Nikki Hamilton is shown accepting her award, a new Polaroid camera from Department Head Mr. William Moon.

Up, up, and over! Mike Baird practices one of his high jumps which helped him win third place in the Junior Olympics held in Knoxville, Tennessee last summer. Keep jumpin', Mike!

Creating Zest Through Competition

Jostling, friendly give and take to be first in line for lunch, numerous out-reached hands vying to catch the instructor's attention, the mad scramble in the lines at bookstore—these signify competition. Competition popped out at every turn on Tech's campus. Whether riding high on a winning streak, or in the throes of losing, the spirit of competition prodded pupils to do their best and try again.

Debbie Roddy and Danny Richardson smile radiantly after being crowned Miss Treble and Mr. Bass Clef at the Mardi Gras. So ended strenuous campaigning.

Winning Achievement, Recognition

Senior Alvin Lee was elected national vice-president of the 1969 Junior Achievement conference, to be held next August at Indiana University. He served in a planning and promotional capacity for the year.

Accomplishment, the final step, the supreme reward. For many, achievement meant a report card they could take home without worry.

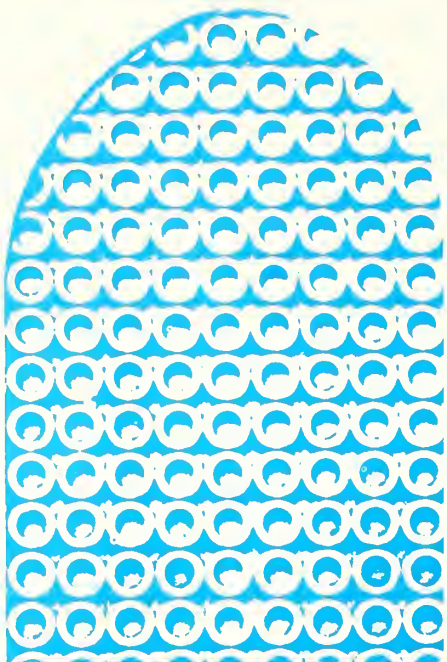

Being recognized by classmates, becoming a leader on campus, being a senior at last, gaining membership in Bell Choir, SAO, Chess Club, —these represented achievement. Every achievement brought with it a clearer perspective for living.

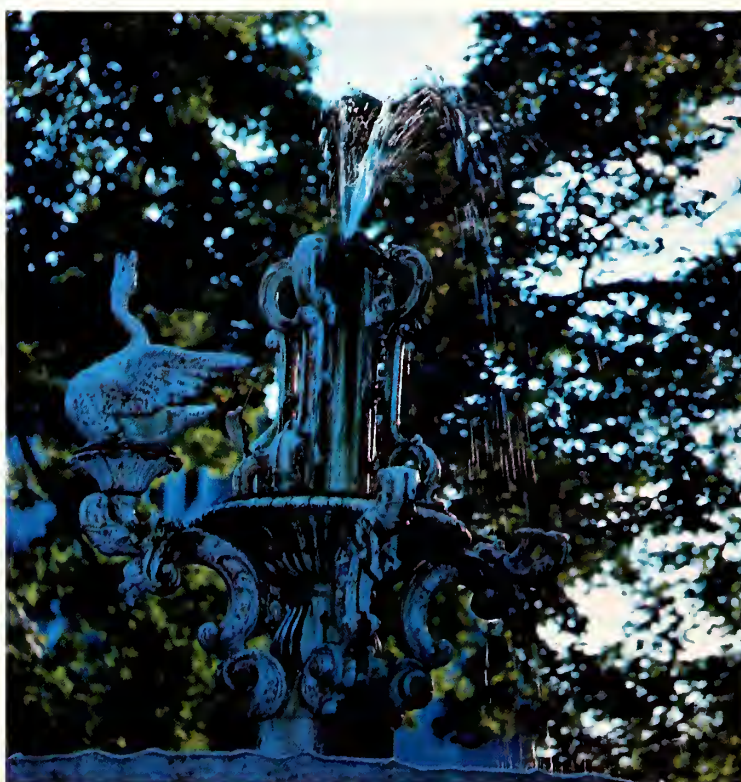

Earning recognition in foreign languages, Keith Chaney, left, won a summer trip to Mexico while Allan Roberts, above, went to Germany. Also winning honors were Susan Clark, who went to France, Mike Pinson to Germany, and Rachelle Lee to Italy. Indiana University Honors Abroad sponsored the trips.

Gaining Dedication Through Maturity

Seniors Lonnie Brown and Juanita Hernandez fulfill the dream of graduation and look to the challenge of the future.

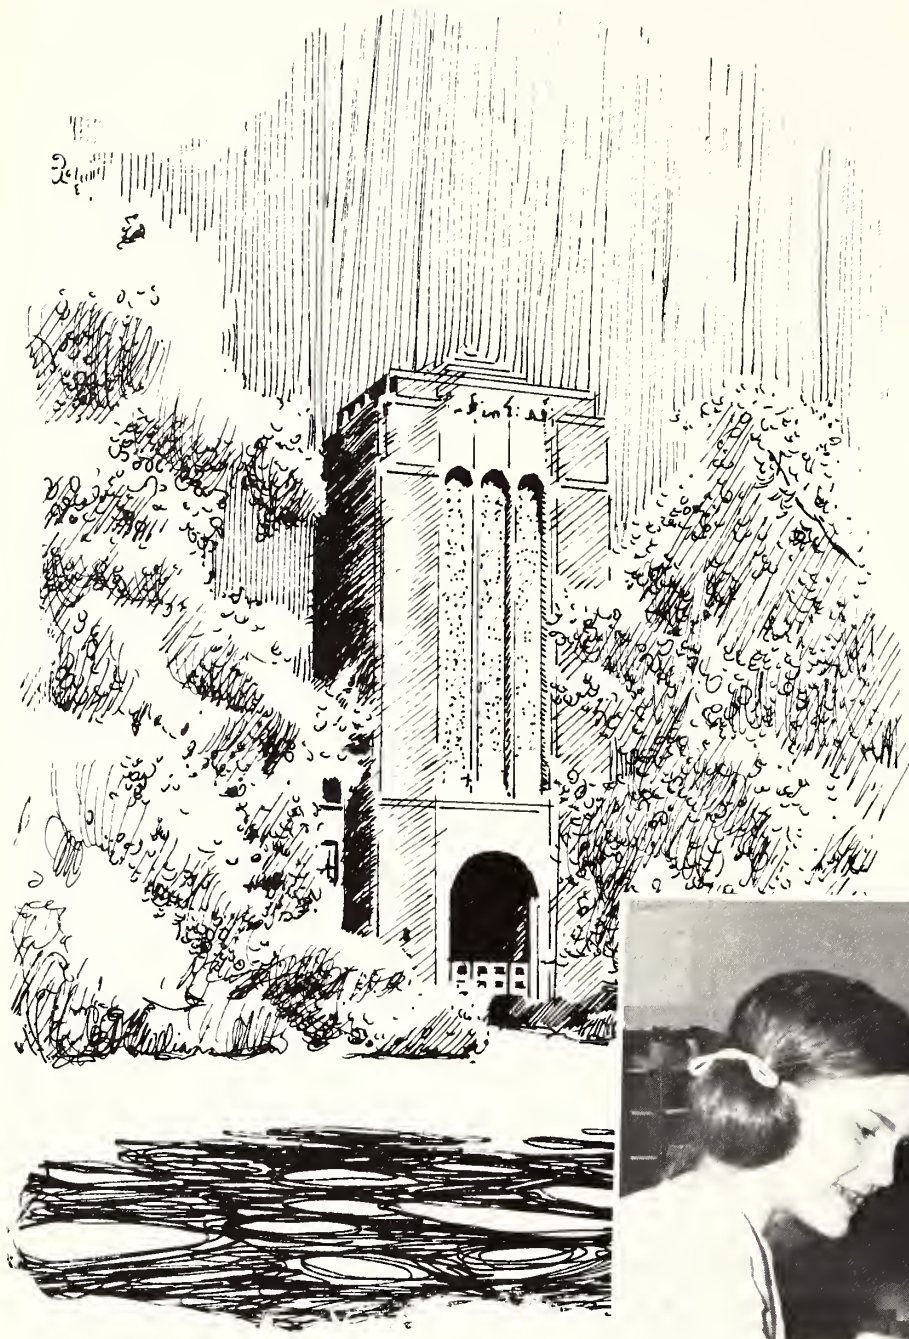

Meeting the hectic swing of adult life loomed as a challenge for Techites. During four years of confusion, discipline, success, disappointment, fun and companionship, Titans completed a cycle and embarked into a new world.

A world of adult responsibilities and leadership—a world without the security of high school life was the springboard for some to the business world, for others to the academic world of college. Serving the community, the country and the world, Techites gained maturity, and dedication—A WAY TO LIVE.

Living, Learning—Titans Tackle Class

As four years of learning progressed, Techites discovered that high school meant more than just football games and dances. Many burned the midnight kilowatts, striving to pass an all-important exam. Grade day brought with it the end results of assignments completed and tests passed.

Pictures, dramatic action— English is self-expression

"Which book would you choose? Gone With the Wind or Becket?" Each winner of the Paragraph Contest had the privilege of selecting any paper back book in the English Office. The contest was centered on the English Department theme of Open House, "Always keep in the best company when you read."

Best compositions were selected from each English class and sent on for final competition.

More enthusiasm sparked as students polished their best compositions and poems for possible publication in Skylines, a collection of creative writings organized yearly by the public schools.

Nationally, five juniors, Jennifer Hylden, R. Kim Vaughn, Terry Boyd, Wendy Ross, and Allan Roberts, represented Tech in the National

Election '68 dominates class discussions

Election '68 found students enrolled in social studies classes discussing various issues of the coming election. The week preceding election day was filled with debates and campaign speeches designed to give students a greater understanding of American politics. Many Techites found this week to be especially informative. Precincts, polls, voter requirements, and conventions were only a few of the areas discussed. Climaxing the week's activities was an election in which Techites recorded their choice of candidates on mimeographed ballots.

He thinks the teenagers here are unique, interested in world affairs today, and very talented.

Buttons, Buttons—who's got the buttons? Tech's Social Studies Department had plenty of them during the election campaign of 1968 and had them mounted in a massive bulletin board display.

Films of France are the basic interest of French students in the Foreign Language Laboratory: Yolanda Jefferson, Glenda Munn, Yvonne Johnson, Keith Wilkerson, Lucinda Lott, Constance Camplin, Alica Marshall, Robert Rexroat.

Language barrier broken; foreign dialects fly in halls

Techites discovered new worlds this year as they studied foreign languages with emphasis on conversational abilities. Students who had spent the summer in foreign countries, found their niches as teacher-assistants imparting accents, syllables, and intonation to fellow-students.

Teachers rearranged procedure to conform with new direct-approach texts. French books are written entirely in that language. Spanish combines exercises in grammar and speaking. Conversational language, a non-homework subject, was offered as a preparation for the regular course. Grammar develops more naturally when speaking ability comes first.

Music students lay chocolate nest egg

Tech-Bandsmen, Majorettes, and choir members were a plague to dieters this year. These musicians infiltrated our campus with a wide array of tempting chocolates. Competition was keen as members endeavored to be the top salesmen of their groups.

Tech choir enjoyed their profits during their annual Christmas carolling activities. Overflowing their chartered buses, this group traveled around Indianapolis singing to friends of Tech. Their night was climaxed in a rollicking party with plenty of food.

Dreaming of the day when they will really "step out in style," Bandsmen are saving for new uniforms. Looking forward to new and exciting adventures, Band members sold their quota, and diligently saved their profits.

Tech artists cultivate variety of media

Mary LaFara grins happily as she works on her clay project in an Art III class. Later she will fire the figurine.

Without silica there would be no glass, no bricks, no electrical appliances, no cars. Silica is a substance of clay, which, when treated with high heat, becomes the chief component of ceramics. Without it the Art Department could not undertake projects such as modeling statues, ashtrays, figurines, pitchers, and pots. Art students would be handicapped in their training without ceramics. Now with the knowledge of this compound, we appreciate more the ceramics produced in art classes.

Math takes students from nuttin' to sum-tin'

Above: Mrs. Walker aids her students in performing the difficult task of mastering exponential equations. Right: Surveying the problem, but not receiving the correct results, she gives the normal reaction of an Algebra I teacher.

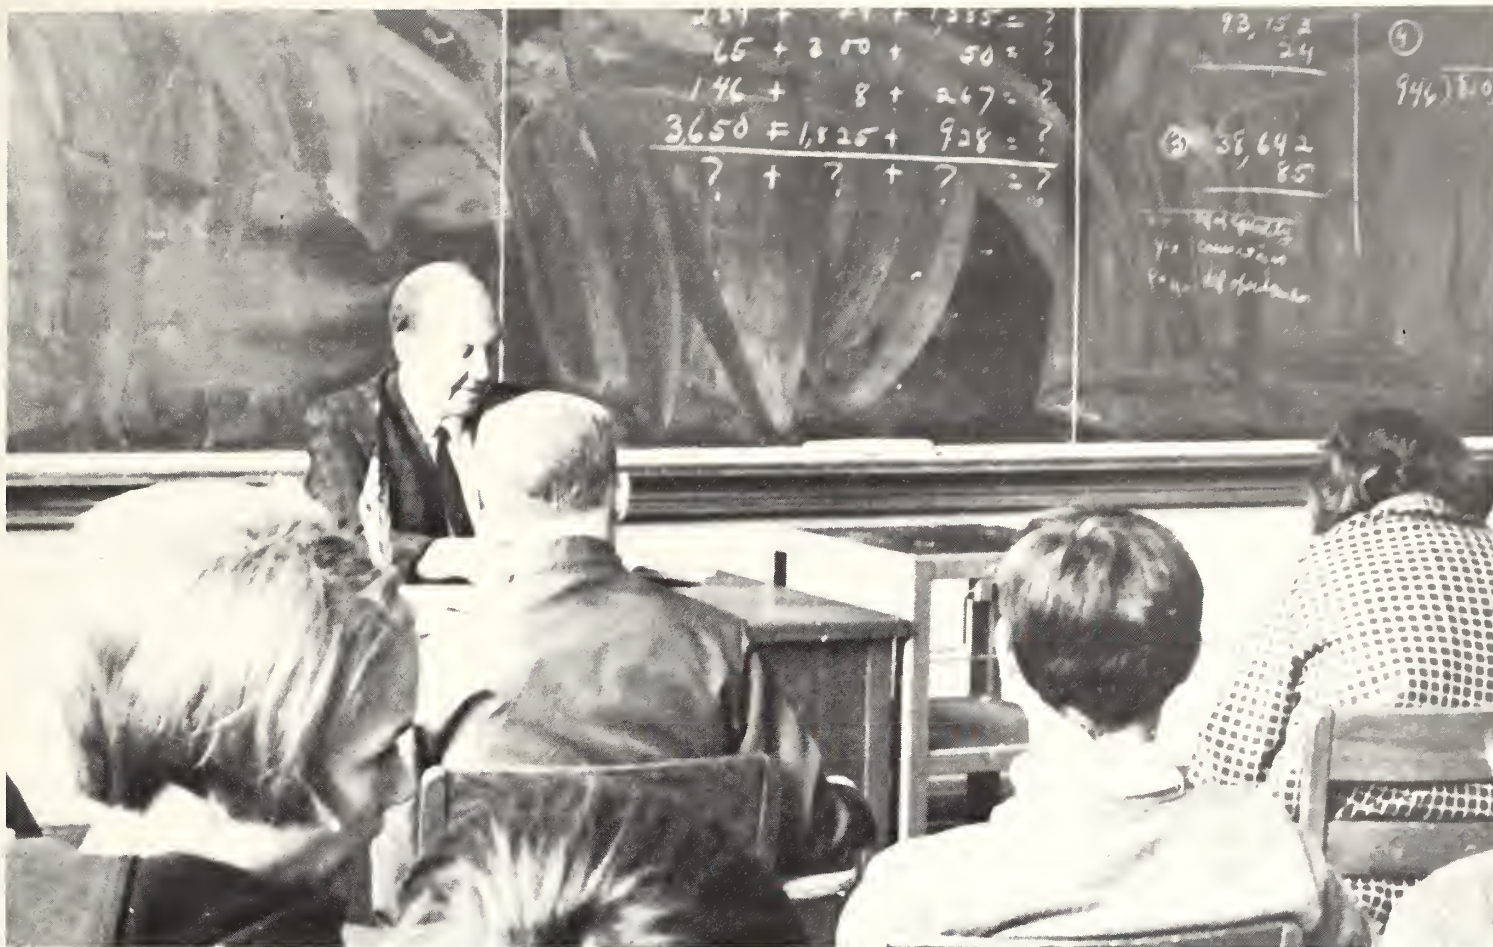

"Adding machines in math?" "Yes, its definitely true," says Mr. Stoeckinger, head of the Mathematics Department. This conversation refers to the Practical Arithmetic class. Using a teacher, an aide, and the machines is an entirely new concept aimed toward students with acute problems in math.

Another class that starts many a befuddled student on the highway of successful thinking is the two-period algebra class, designed to start wheels turning. It is for students who have a high potential but are slow in understanding concepts.

The geometry class finds their teacher, Mr. Kriese, amusing yet demanding as they try to solve a proposition. The work on the board was left from a previous class, and judging from appearances, it's certainly not trig.

Math isn't always plugging numbers into equations. It's interesting and fun. Here, Nikki Hamilton learns how to use a slide rule. Math student, Tim Wand, explains that two twelve-inch rulers say 2 plus 7 equals 9, but a slide rule, matching figures in the same way, says 2 times 7 equals 14. Practice makes perfect; Nikki takes the helm.

Physical science offers hair-raising year

The sounds of bunsen burners, a teacher lecturing, and students laughing can be heard through the Old Shop Building as physical science classes undertake experiments. This year introduced a feeling of newness in many students, for the laboratories have been updated. Often a class will march down to the film room, or "wine cellar" as it is affectionately called, to see a movie about their class' current study. In effect, however, most students prefer the lab work rather than lectures and movies, even though in lab they must wear goggles, to protect their eyes.

Girls moan; boys cheer; biologists at work

The odor of formaldehyde penetrated the air as members of a Biology II class began the intensive operation of dissecting frogs. Trays rattled as the specimens were handed out. Girls moaned while the boys cheered. However, the groans changed to interested comments as students anticipated learning the importance of each minute organ.

The actual dissection of the frog gives pupils a chance to learn where an organ is located and how to relate the name and function of an organ to its appearance.

Upon completion of their work, these biology students felt that dissection is one of the informative and interesting experiences in the sciences.

Two daring boys invade women's world

The doors to the future may be opened with home economics acting as they key.

Students can learn to bake, sew, babysit, run a household, and get along with others.

One of the most popular classes with seniors is Family Living. This course teaches pupils to know themselves, their friends, and their families. It takes them through the dating age, the study of sex, the consequences of intimate situations, and marriage. Members of this class say the instruction is most helpful, as the majority of teenagers not taking such instruction have to learn through experience. Underclassmen, too, look forward to the course.

Good training in business begins at Tech

Today in our country, enterprise is flourishing. Typewriters, adding machines, mimeographs, computers, and the operators of these machines, form the backbone of business. Without these, all organization and speed would be lost.

Tech has one of the largest business education departments in the state. Besides a multitude of manual and electric typewriters, Tech owns several computers for education of key punch operators, including those at Mallory Technical Institute.

New equipment up-dates metal trades program

Repairing all types of broken objects is the main hobby of the Metal Trades Department. They repair everything from broken clutches on driver education cars to missing rungs from school chairs, and save the city money by doing so.

New equipment has given the students a broader variety of projects on which to work.

New additions to the pattern making shop are a True Trace Three Diminsional Bridgeport Mill and an electric discharge machine. The mill enables an operator to reproduce a given shape, and the discharge machine corrects minor errors in workmanship.

In the welding department a heavier steel punch, welding table, and two-ton electric hoist have been added.

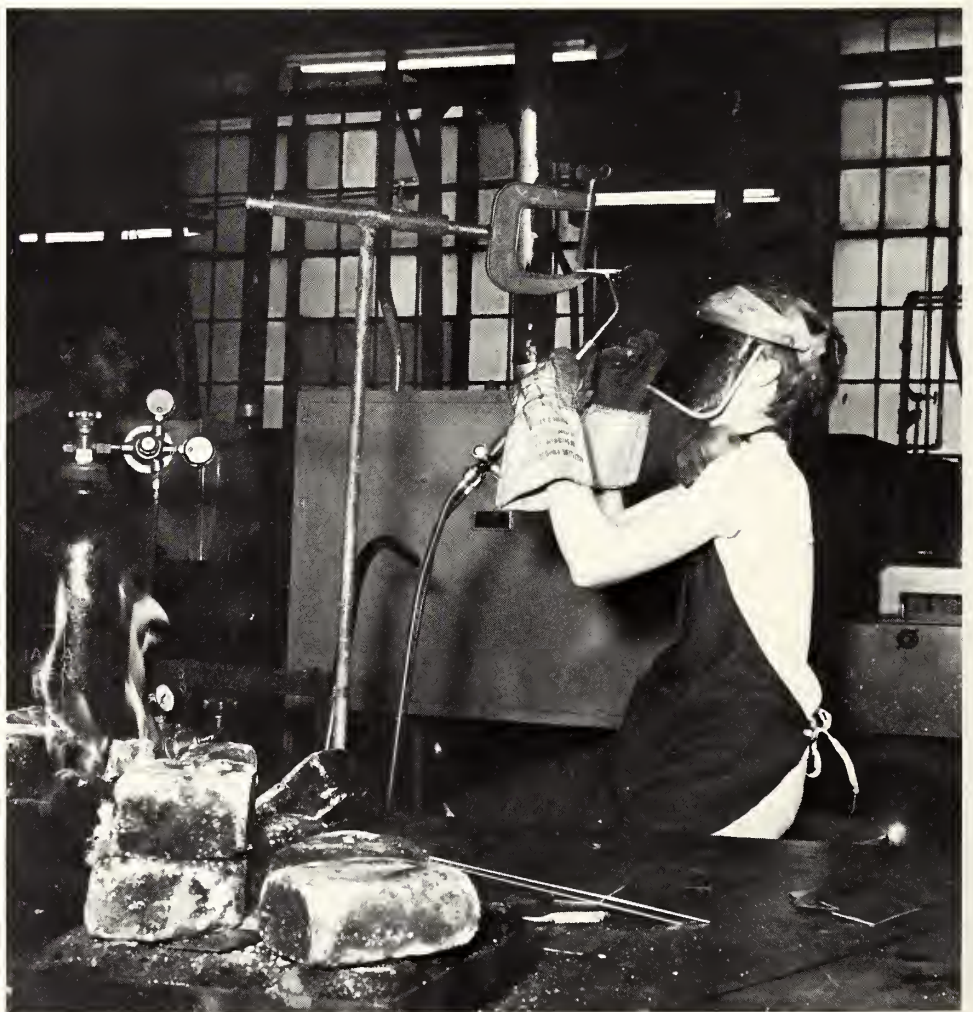

A Speedy Melt Furnace in the foundry gives the students an opportunity to work with cast iron for the first time.

Make a house? Building trades teach how

Hammering, sawing and grinding are some of the familiar sounds heard in the Building Trades Department. Beginning students train in the five divisions of this department spending one six weeks period in each, and then move on to take a course in basic electricity. Different branches include painting, decorating, carpentry, masonry, cabinet-making, and plumbing.

Electrifying subject makes sparks fly

To make the world revolve around plugs, motors, and tubes, one must start right here at Tech in the freshman year.

Electrical Trades, the first course offered to all freshmen is the beginning of this fantastic career.

From there pupils go into special fields and make experts of themselves. Some learn to fix refrigerators. Some are taught to repair hi-fi sets, radios, and televisions. Work is done by the students for people wanting their services. From high school, students can go right into their specialized fields.

Electricity can be a fascinating subject as William Ford, Glen Rody, and Calvin Skipper learn. In Mr. Bramblett's Electricity IV class pupils test a D.C. motor.

From the far northwest corner of the Tech campus comes the sound of tinkering and clanging for which members of the Auto Trades Department are responsible. The work lies in the hands of the teachers in the auto mechanics and auto body shops. For the person who really doesn't know the difference, the first is the group that services and repairs the moving parts of the car while the latter is the group that works on the parts of the car that meet the eye. Boys who major in this field receive a vocational certificate at the end of their eight-credit program if they maintain at least a C average.

Helpful to boys who can't make up their minds about an occupation, the Auto Trades Department is one of the answers.

Printing, drafting keep lively pace with time

Did you ever wonder where your Cannon newspaper comes from? How about your tardy slips and part-times? Do you think they come from a publishing company?

They are produced by no other than your own Tech Printing Department.

Sophomores may enter the course in printing. Each has his own separate job, whether operating a linotype or running the new IBM type-setting machinery.

The challenging world of triangles and squares has been opened to students enrolled in drafting classes. Even though computers seem to be taking over many fields, draftsmen are in constant demand.

These classes consist almost entirely of boys, but some girls are accepting the invitation. Mr. Elliot feels the girls may be more meticulous in their work and may spark competition among the boys.

John Doty and Robert Henderson operate one of Tech's two semi-automatic paper cutters. The department prepares the familiar Drill Book used in English classes.

Physical education is key to good health

"Has someone lost his teeth—maybe a dinosaur or a giant?"

On display in health classes, an enormous set of dentures with a tooth brush of equal scale attracted comments from students, wide-eyed at the sight. A part of the Dental Health Kit made for Tech by Indiana University, the dentures can be used to illustrate the correct way to brush one's teeth. Also included in the kit are wafers which dye food particles left on a person's teeth, and x-ray plates of cavities. Health is taught not only in health classes but in physical education classes as well.

New showers, installed during the summer and completed early in the fall, were a great addition to facilities in the girls' gym.

Easier on the eyes of sports participants and observers is the new lighting system in the boys' gym. Mercury lights better illuminate the gym for classes, games, and assemblies.

With muscles straining, members of a boys' physical education class try to show that they're not 98-pound weaklings.

ROTC program prepares military leaders

Mindful of discipline, neatness, and character, 400 pupils enrolled in ROTC. They formed two battalions with three companies each.

Officers received instruction in teaching classes.

Through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, Tech boys prepared for future military service. They competed in numerous team meets and in Federal Inspection.

Both this year's Drill Team and Rifle Team rated first place at the city-wide meet. In 1968 the ROTC received its 47th consecutive honor star at the Federal Inspection.

Varsity trackmen capture coveted city title

After placing second in the first Tech Invitational, and third in the North Central Relays a week later, the Titans approached the city track meet as underdogs. They overcame their lowly role to capture the city crown. Later Titans placed second in the sectional and thus completed the season. With many underclassmen remaining for next year, loyalty centered around Head Coach Bruce McGeath and his assistants, John Koontz, Walter Dininger, Melvin Bowers, and Don Camplese.

Glenn Bentley broke the high hurdles record this season with a time of 15 seconds flat. The mile relay team set a new school record of 3:26.8. Members of that team were Robert Hill, Charles Johnson, Fred Walker, and Alvin Lee. The 880 relay team set a new 1:31.24 school record. Members were Victor Breland, Claude Mickle, John Kirby, and Glenn Bentley.

Bobbles beset baseballers in 3—12 season

The '67 varsity baseball team, plagued with several errors each game, waded through a long season to produce an unimpressive 3—12 record.

The Titans' only wins came against Warren Central, Wood, and Kennedy. Tom Hickey was credited with two of the wins and Rick Roark with the other.

Coach Moreman will have several lettermen returning next season who should help the team outlook. These boys are Jack Harmon, Tom Hickey, Rick Roark, Paul Wilson, Roger Payne, and Steve Funke. The seniors that left were Danny Pride, Mark Winzenread, Joe Wilson, Jack Seibert, Howard Gearlds, and Gary Champion. Joe Wilson and Mark Winzenread lead the seniors in batting, and Steve Funke and Jack Harmon led the returners in batting last season.

The '68 Golf Team behind number one man John Green and under the direction of coach Phil Quillin waded through a rough schedule to produce a 5—10 season record.

The six man varsity squad consisted of John Green, Jim Johnson, Ken Phillips, Russ Nichoalds, Kurt Grindstaff, and Mike Stanfield. Every man on the team was an underclassman and will be returning next season.

The top three men on the team were John Green who boasted a 41.1 average, Jim Johnson, with a 44.3 average, and Ken Phillips with a 48.1 average.

The team was able to score impressive victories over Kennedy and Wood, 12—0 and 10—0 respectively. The Titans were also able to defeat Shortridge, Washington, Manual, and were defeated in a close match against Attucks 8—7.

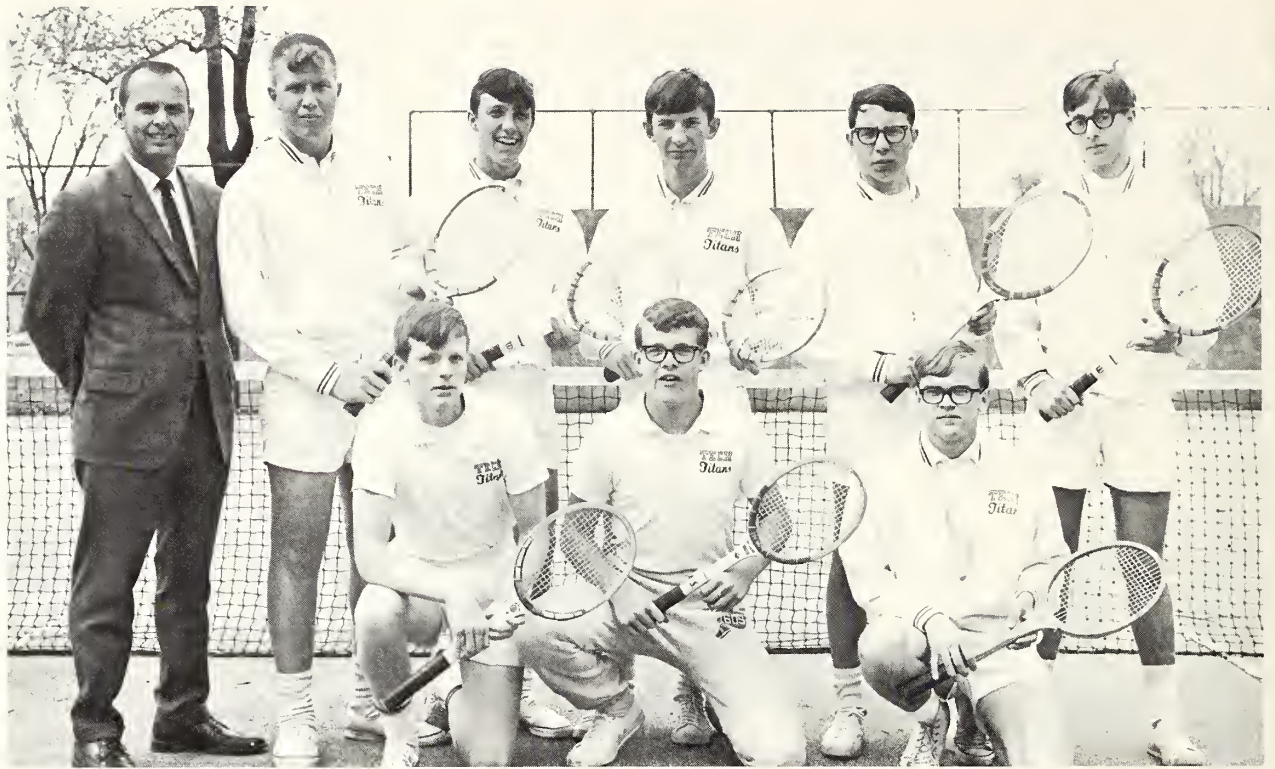

Junior Jim Johnson tees off during a practice session. Johnson played second man during most of the season and was the only man to score against the city champs.

Winner of Howe Invitational

Martin Toney, who played number one man most of the season, makes the kind of serve he's been striving for in a match at Tech.

The '68 Tennis team under the direction of coach Don Robinson produced a 9—5 season record and a victory in the Howe Invitational Tourney. The team finished third in the city behind Broad Ripple and Seccina.

The top five men of the team were Martin Toney who played number one, Dennis Alexander number two, Guy Luttrell number three, Mike Gemmill number four, and Bob McClain number five. Guy Luttrell had the best season record of 17—2, Mike Gemmill had a record of 15—3, Dennis Alexander was 13—6. Bob McClain and Martin Toney were 6—11, and 5—11 respectively. These individual records included season matches and tourneys. The only two returning lettermen Mr. Robinson will have will be Guy Luttrell and Bob McClain.

Cross Country teams take city; 2nd year

Coach Bruce McGeath's varsity Cross Country Team took the city title for the second year in a row. Sophomore Ronald Davie finished second in the individual city competition. The varsity were able to advance as far as regional competion but missed going to the state by two points.

The reserves were also city champs for the second straight year. Lester Trotter won the city in individual competition. Virgil Walker was the freshman city champ.

In regular season play the Titans finished second out of 19 teams in the Columbus Invitational. The captains of the team were senior Terry Kimberly and junior Ron Buses.

James Lewis and Roger Payne set up a blocking wall in front of Milton Allen in an attempt to break Milton free for the score against Ripple.

Titans boil Satans in season's finale

The Titan Varsity Football Team waited until almost too late to show the city what they had. In the last two games against Marshall and Shortridge the team scored two impressive victories. The Titans were tied in the last minutes of games by Cathedral and Scecina and were tied in the last ten seconds by Manual.

Shortridge, rated twelfth in the state, fell prey to the Titans in the season's finale.

The Titans got on the scoreboard first when backup quarterback Paul Wilson carried on a one-yard sneak with 3:51 left in the first quarter. Sylvester Edwards set up the score when he carried around the left side of the line on a thirty-two-yard run to the four-yard line.

Shortridge's only score came with 4:48 left in the half. Junior Desmond Smith broke through the Titan line on a forty-yard touchdown run to make the halftime score 7-7.

The Titans scored again when Milton Allen carried up the center seven yards for the score. Sylvester Edwards kicked the extra point.

Reserves have 5—2—2 season record

Coach John Hurrle and coach Walter Dininger's reserve football team had an impressive 5—2—2 record this season. They scored victories over Broad Ripple, Manual, Marshall, and Shortridge and were tied by Howe, in the opening game of the season, and by Warren Central.

King Andrews and Mark Brents were the leading runners of the team this season. Paul Wilson's lefthanded passing to Robert Beaty and Robin Eaton were a constant threat to the opposition and netted several touchdowns for the team.

Outstanding players on offense were Paul Wilson, King Andrews, Mark Brents, Denny Griggs, Herman Fant, and Rex Marshall. On defense they were Wilburt Moore, James Green, Harold Norwood, Steve Eaton, and Fred Walker. Many of these boys may be moving up to fill the varsity positions that will be empty next season.

Howe victory is highlight of one-win season

The Freshman Football Team had a very depressing 1—7 season. Their only win came against Howe in the opening game of the season. Victor Evans ran the touchdown, and Jim Holton kicked the extra point which was the only scoring of the game.

The team was plagued with several fumbles during each game. They lost five fumbles in the Creston game which led to a 12—0 defeat. Against Marshall, fumbles at crucial points in the game again led to defeat.

Coach Camplese said that the boys were loyal and played to the best of their ability. He thought that some of them may make good varsity players in a few years.

Varsity cagers win 10 of 21 games

The varsity basketball team finished the '68-'69 season with a mediocre 10-11 record. This is the first time in around 18 years that the Titans have had a losing record in basketball. The Titans finished 10-10 in regular season play, but they met No. 1 ranked Washington in the first game of the Sectionals to move their record to 10-11.

The Titans gave the Continentals a good game for the first half, and they even led the tall giants at the end of the first quarter. But, in the second half Washington outscored the Titans 45 to 19. The Titans shot only 24% from the floor and 62% from the free stripe. Shooting percentage was a big problem of the teams all season long.

Tech met Washington twice before the Sectionals, once in the second game of the City Tourney and once in regular season play. In the City Tourney game the Titans came back in the second quarter to cut Washington's lead to 10 at halftime, but the Continentals poured it on in the next two periods to take a 33 point victory. Kendrick, the Titan's leading scorer went scoreless for the game.

During the regular season Tech gave Washington a good game for the first three stanzas. They were behind only 3 at the end of the first period, five at the half, and 10 at the end of the third period. But, Washington again poured it on in the last quarter outscoring the Titans by 14 points.

Junior Frank Kendrick was the only Titan to have a scoring average over 10 points. The forward finished the season with a 20.8 point per game average. The team will be losing only four seniors, Bob Gaddie, David Mitchell, James Lewis, and Ray Roark.

Reserves beat city champs, have 14—5 season

The '68-'69 reserve basketball team went undefeated through 11 home games and finished the season with a 14—5 record. The reserves won only three of eight games on the road, but one of those wins was a 20 point victory over the city champ Howe Hornets, which Coach Cline said was the best game of the season.

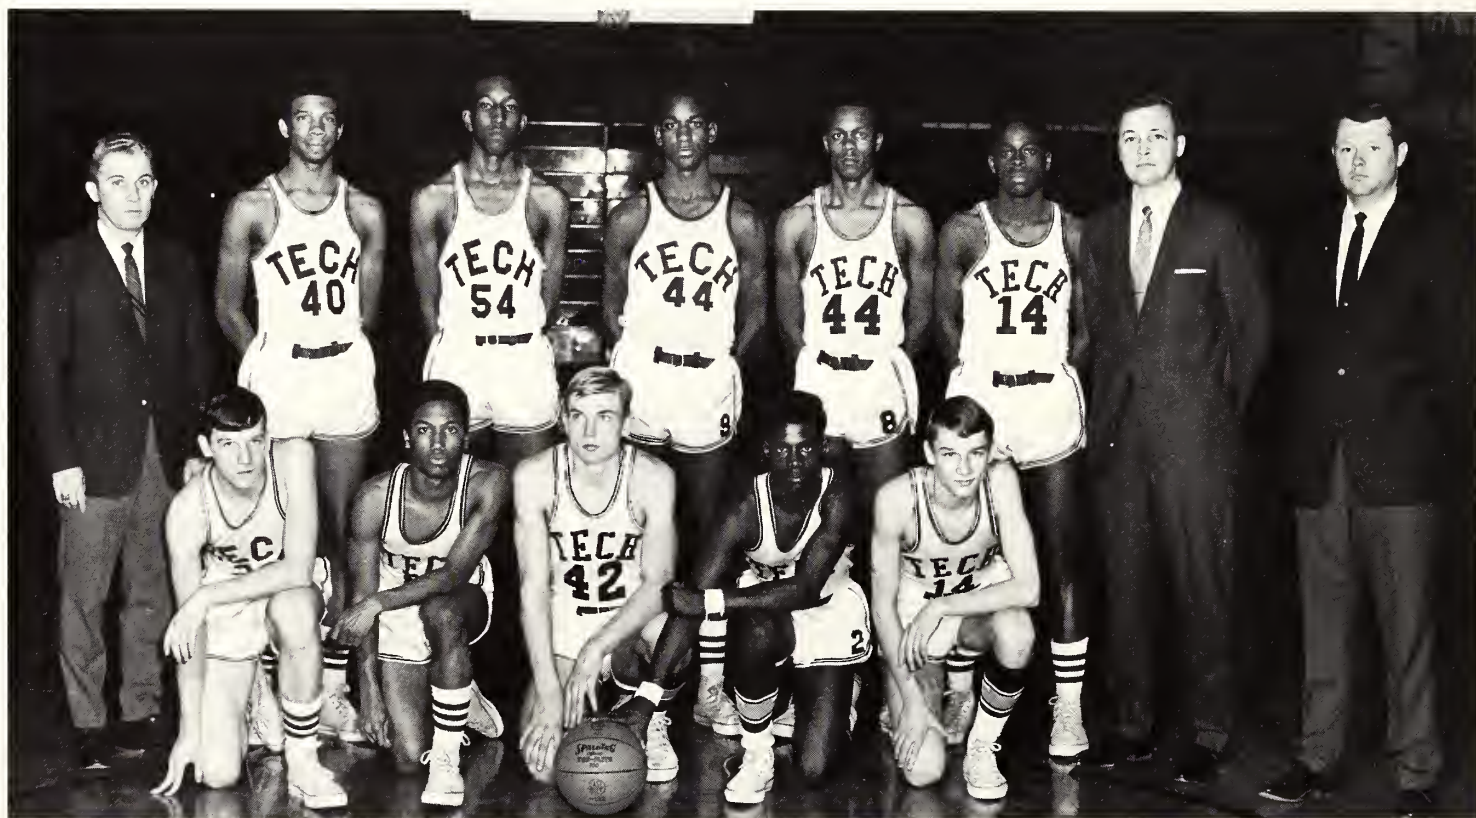

Coach Cline's starting five primarily consisted of Kent Clark and Kenneth Sanders at the forwards, Bob Powell at center, and Charles Battle and Larry Ward controlling the guard positions. Charles Battle was the teams leading scorer averaging 10 points a game while hitting on 40% of his field goals and 44—55 of his free throws for 80%. He was followed closely in scoring by Kent Clark who hit 43.2% of his field goals. Bob Powell and Kenneth Sanders were the leading rebounders on the team.

Frosh take city runner up, have 15—4 season

The freshman basketball team under first-year coach Jay Kleine rolled through the '68-'69 season with a 15—4 record. The little Greenclads were runners up in the City Tourney getting beat by Cathedral 42—30. The Titans were tied at the end of the first quarter, but were behind at halftime and were never able to overcome the Irish.

Coach Kleine's starting five consisted of Harvey Brooks, Gary Spradling, Art Johnson, Claude Lowery, and Richard Kendrick. Harvey Brooks led the team in scoring with a 13.5 game average. He also led the team in free-throw percentage, hitting a 68% clip. The two tallest boys on the team were Claude Lowery at 6—4 and Art Johnson at 6—5. They pulled down 10.6 and 10 rebounds a game respectively. Coach Kleine said that some of these boys might make good varsity ball players in a year or two.

Brightening Tech's Day—Activities . . .

Freedom of choice was evident as Techites enjoyed multiple activities. Titans joined in High School Red Cross, Junior Achievement, Service Club, and others. Ranging from educational projects to entertaining parties, they discovered the meaning of real participation.

Band practice achieves 'Titanic' sound

The summer day is a hot 88 degrees. The sun, directly overhead, shines down on a tired, perspiring group—the Tech Band. Having finished their routine, they stand in whatever shade can be found. Mr. Switzer, the director, shakes his head as he confers with Mr. Backmeyer and the drum majors. After a few minutes, he breaks away from the huddle. Taking his speaker, he announces "Kids, it's just not good enough. Let's go through once more." With groans members slowly urge their aching muscles back to their places in formation . . .

It is a Friday evening in October. The air is brisk with excitement. At the west end of the football field, band members wait tensely. A drum major's whistle breaks the silence, and batons twirl. The stadium resounds with cheers as Titan band members step out like professionals.

Step! Kick! Getting those legs up is part of the precision marching that requires long hours after school for Tech band members. Up-to-date medleys livened the half-time shows this year and added spirit to the long practices.

In sparkling new uniforms, Tech's new "Titanettes" co-head and head, respectively, take time for a picture. New routines were provided by Pam Cooper and Elaine Peterman for half-time and pre-game entertainment at home games.

Glowing new Titanettes give sparkle to games

This year, the majorettes achieved the honor of being known as the "Titanettes." With a new head and co-head working on half-time and pre-game shows, the girls gave their best for entertainment during football and basketball games.

New uniforms consisted of green skirts, jackets with white lettering spelling "Titanettes", and headbands. For a change of pace the girls also acquired white shorts and tops with green "Titanettes" lettering.

For a special treat this year, the Titanettes gave a Christmas performance dressed as Christmas trees, ballerinas, baby dolls, and clowns.

Many after-school hours of practicing dance and baton routines and marching gave the Titanettes that extra dazzle that lent color and sparkle to games.

The girls enjoy a football game and show enthusiasm for the Titans. A shower of green and white pom-poms adds color and variety to the stands.

Titans high . . . Titans low . . . Varsity cheers build morale

Watch out below! Titan cheerleaders prove they too have much skill and endurance when they build a human pyramid and then collapse.

With the help of enthusiastic fans, cheerleaders urged the teams on to victory. In defeat they shared the dejection of teams and fans.

The five-girl varsity team practiced weekly improving their yells and coaching reserve and freshman girls in their routines.

Titan cheerleaders are chosen on the basis of their leadership, appearance, and coordination.

"Oh, no!" moans varsity cheerleader Karen Spaw upset about the call on a Titan play.

Marsha Shewman shows her jubilation after a nip-and-tuck session as the Tech team scores a precious point.

Susie Cutshaw learns that leading cheers can be as taxing as taking command of the ball on the playing floor. Time out, Susie!

"We tried so hard to win," sighs Karen Darland, proud of the Titan team but sad to lose the ball game.

"Get That Ball! GET THAT BALL!" Cheerleader Linda Chapman amplifies her voice with the big megaphone at a home basketball contest.

Karen Darland, Elaine Thrasher, Linda Chapman, Mary Jones, Susie Cutshaw, Joyce Washington and Marsha Shewman embrace with tears of joy to celebrate a winning game.

Reserve Cheerleaders—Elaine Thrasher, Debbie Fishburn, Barbara Frost, Joyce Washington, Mary Jones.

Reserve, novice cheerleaders evolve style

Cheering the football and basketball teams on to victory, the reserve cheerleaders, despite the flu and injuries, sparked enthusiasm at the reserve games. With vim and vigor, they experienced all the joys, tensions, and disappointments involved in the busy lives of high school yell leaders.

Off to a running start in the race for school spirit and enthusiasm was this year's freshman cheerleading squad. The five girls found that much hard work and many after-school hours were involved in perfecting yells and boosting the morale of the freshman team. Outfitted in sporty green and white outfits, the girls cheered the team to their near-victory in the City Tourney.

Going through the usual procedure, the Varsity and Reserve Cheerleaders work up a new routine. First, is the creative period, then bringing motion into it, followed by organization, and finally, the finished product, a smooth act.

Handbell Choir rings in new sound

Being a ding-a-ling wasn't all bad for twelve students selected this year to become members of Tech's newest music group, the Handbell Choir. Playing their four octave, 16th century handbells, this group performed for the first time at the Christmas Assembly. The bells were a gift to Tech from an alumna, Mrs. Ruth H. LaBerge.

Tech's Dance Band exemplified the many moods, somber and joyous which are reflected by students on campus. Brassy notes mixed with the mellow sounds of the saxophone as members of the band achieved a large repertoire of tunes at Thursday afternoon practice sessions.

The String Ensemble continued its established tradition of playing classical and semipopular numbers for a calendar of engagements outside of school.

Serious expressions show the determination and interest of Mike Griffin and Sharon Coffman as they practice to master English White Chapel hand bells.

Experimenting with a new sound is fun for Carol Brown, Marlene McGuire, and Bob Davis, Handbell Choir members.

Delightful strains of music flow from the gymnasium several times a year as the Concert Orchestra plays its various musical selections before the entire student body.

The orchestra is composed of sixty of the most qualified musicians on the Tech campus who work each year to promote the Tech image by striving to reach perfection and unity in the performance of orchestra music.

Under the direction of John White, the orchestra rehearsed diligently for their annual Spring Concert, and rounded out the year by participating in the annual state music contest. Their final appearance was a concert given at Eastgate Shopping Center.

"Organization" was the word in the Boys Concert Club this year. Members for the first time pur-chased uniforms—navy blue blazers to wear at performances. Their schedule included appearances at school assemblies as well as 'out-side programs. The boys, under the direction of Douglas Perry, have worked many hours on their music to become one of Tech's top music groups.

Songs filled the air in Room 640 the fourth hour as the Girls Con-cert Club practiced their music each day. The girls, wearing gold dresses sang frequently throughout the year, appearing at churches and school assemblies.

Both groups participated in the State Choral Contest.

Three popular vocal groups lead off Christmas season

Armed with extra gloves, shoes, make-up, brushes and other accessories essential to a girl's beauty, the Girls Ensemble entertained throughout the city. The eleven girls found fun in taking their new director, Mr. Richard Laughlin, to dinner at the Ponderosa Steak House to honor his birthday.

Turtlenecks and blazers were the style for the Boys Octette this year. They enjoyed a very busy schedule during the Christmas season. In addition to programs at many churches, the Tech Evening school, School 101, and Greenwood Shopping Center, the boys enjoyed a Christmas party at Mr. Perry's home. Because Mr. Perry's Christmas tree was too big for one man, the ten boys and their dates pitched in to help decorate the fir.

Extra rehearsals occupied time at Christmas as the Melodayres combined efforts with the Arling-tones from Arlington High School to present a madrigal dinner at Second Presbyterian Church. Resplendent in 16th century costumes, the groups sang songs of medieval Christmas.

Caroling, recording, highlight Techoir

At the Christmas assembly, the Techoir sat among the pupils until their turn came. Then, marching to the front they performed a medley of Christmas favorites.

A pizza party on a bus? The idea sounds ridiculous, but the Techoir and their director, Mr. Moon, found the setting perfect for fun and laughter. After caroling at places such as Eastgate Shopping Center, Crestwood Village South, and the home of Mayor Richard Lugar, the seventy kids aboard a city bus wound their way through silent, midnight Indianapolis to Sam's Pizza House. There they ate their fill of pizzas and relished four cases of cokes. What an ideal way to end a fun evening.

Cutting a recording was another important event. Members came at 8:30 Friday morning during Thanksgiving vacation to tape the four numbers, "Still, Still, Still", "March of the Wisemen", "Do You Hear What I Hear", and "Sing We All of Christmas". Recordings went on sale in time for Christmas giving.

Four clubs intrigue hobbyists

Check and mate! Chess players meet weekly to challenge each other in a centuries-old test of strategy. Members gain points for games won. The Tech group then engages clubs from other schools.

Amid floods, backgrounds, tripods, and a maze of cameras, shutter-bugs pool their efforts. The Photography Club does portraiture and renders various other photo services to give camera buffs the practice to master a hobby which may develop for some into a profession.

The Printing Club planted and cared for a colorful flower bed outside the Print Shop. Their busy schedule also included printing PTA and athletic programs and designing window displays.

Thought, discussion, brighten club scene

A time to remember for the History Club this year was a Saturday trip to Chicago. Club members, with Mrs. Lehman, chartered a bus for an interesting, fun-filled day in Chicago. In the Windy City, the history buffs toured the Chicago Museum of Natural History, the John Shedd Aquarium, and the Adler Planetarium.

Carols filled the Americana Nursing Home as the Tech Prayer Circle visited there at Christmas time. After singing their songs of cheer, members crowded into cars and headed for Wallace Street Presbyterian Church for games, a skit, and a huge feast. At the end of the evening, all gathered round the huge Christmas tree and heard the Christmas story as told in the gospel according to Luke.

"'The Tech Way' What does that mean?", a surprised freshman ponders. Tech's Human Relations Committee members have the job of explaining "our way" to incoming freshmen. Their duties include helping promote better campus relations and to make annual excursions to all the elementary schools in the Tech area. Their visits help to increase understanding between fellow students and teachers.

Key people engage in school service

Get that ball! The mad scramble involving Danny Richardson, Steve Borden, Zoltan Veegh, and Bill Beck (background) occurred when Key Club took on GAA.

Basically school service organizations, the Key Club and the Service Club gave needed impetus to school activities this year.

As a service to the Publications Department and staff, Key Club sold cokes at the Yearbook Dance in the spring.

Members collected food to be distributed to needy families at Christmas.

Keeping pace with these activities, the Service Club again sold Homecoming mums, thus bolstering school support and attendance at the game.

At the beginning of each year, all new members are initiated in a candlelight ceremony emphasizing good citizenship at school. Participation of both old and new members insured continuity of the organization.

Reporters, editors hustle to meet deadlines

Hustle-bustle is the order of the day every day in Room 638, the Cannon Office, as the Cannon weekly must be readied for the presses. Reporters bring in last-minute stories so that page editors may fill their pages and get the "raw" Cannon to the print shop where the finished product begins to take shape. But there are still page proofs to check, pictures to obtain, and cartoons to be drawn before the Cannon can be distributed to the readers. It's often nerve-wracking, but always rewarding as the weekly staff manages to get the job done.

The year started with the drive for subscribers while new editors and reporters struggled to "get the hang of it all." The second semester saw such innovations as an editorial board and a weekly comic strip, "Fantastech Man."

As in the past years, staffers showing high achievement were honored with Cannon Alumni sweaters or with membership in Quill and Scroll honorary high school journalism society.

Pulling away from past traditions, the '69 Cannon staff created a new look for the yearbook. Beginning with the freedoms theme, the new look expanded into duo-tones in the opening section, a new mode of layout in the division pages and a break-away from the usual green and white cover.

The break-away movement began in Hannibal, Missouri. There an editorial staff saw the complete process of publishing a yearbook as guests of American Yearbook Company.

In addition to being busy with deadlines, yearbook staffers found time to engage in other journalistic events. Conferences for budding journalists gave staffers the opportunity to discuss layout, copy, photography and theme with their peers.

Drama, Thespians show talent in plays

Drama Club members provided Tech with a full schedule of entertainment this year with plays and sketches. In addition to three short plays performed at the Mardi Gras, two all-school plays, Teahouse of the August Moon and Victoria Regina, were presented under the direction of club sponsor, Robert Maloy. Also presented were Twelve Angry Men, directed by Mrs. Alice Goodrum and The Valiant, directed by Mrs. Doris Webber.

Conventions were important to Thespians interested in perfecting their acting skills. At the combined meetings with other schools, members had the opportunity to see a wide variety of plays and to discuss problems in acting, as at the Indiana University summer session.

In The Scheming Lieutenant Dr. Posey (Jim Noland) gives an evil laugh as Justice Credulous (Bill Barton) lies dying, attended by his daughter, Laura (Vicki Eaton) and wife Bridget (Kim Anderson).

Much learned, earned in speech, debate

Veteran members of Tech's Speech team sparked so much enthusiasm in new speakers that Speech team and National Forensic League have one of the largest memberships ever. Numerous first ribbons and honor ribbons were won in dramatic, humorous, oratorical interpretation, original oratory, extemporaneous speaking and poetry. Each Saturday morning 25 to 30 members went to speech meets around Marion County and to Ball State University.

A Halloween party and a Christmas party, at which Speech Team presented a one-act play, were on the fall social agenda. During the spring there were two special initiations of NFL for the 24 new members who had received a total of 25 points from the meets.

Okinawa stage set for 'Teahouse' scene

The all-school play, Teahouse of the August Moon, a December 5 performance, proved to be quite a funny production. Okinawa in World War II set the scene for the Japanese-American comedy. The story concerned American culture transforming the island.

Sakini, an interpreter, played by Bill Barton, assisted the army in overcoming the language barrier. Ember, a German shepherd owned by Mrs. Doris Webber, drama club sponsor, played the part of an Okinawan goat.

Because of a sprained ankle and a case of measles in the cast, and the marriage of the set designer, Mr. Turner, the numerous rehearsals were frequently disrupted. Efforts paid off in a finished production. The play, under the direction of Robert Malloy diverted both an afternoon and an evening audience.

Praying to a Japanese god, Patti Wythe (Lotus Blossom) reverently bows toward the east.

Play director Robert Malloy goes over last-minute plans.

A tired cast, but one with a sense of accomplishment stands before the audience for the final bow. Faces showing: Jim Childs, Ember, David Wythe, Debra Shaw, Jim Noland, Vickie Eaton, Patti Wythe, Bill Barton, Bill Dyke, Geri Siefert, Sylvia Milam, Debbie Whitaker, Harold Lund, Mike Trittipio. Others in the cast included Patti Johnson, Gary Brockman, Paul Turner, Jani Shaw, Pammy Shaw, Doug Bare, Kevin Brewer, Don Knorr, Robert Seagraves, Randy Butrum, Rodney Kimble, Patti Phillips, Kim Anderson, Lee Ann Eads, Dewayne Watson, Elizabeth Trittipio, Janice Hittle, Shirley Wilson, Donna Taylor, Terri Wong, Debra Rosebrock, and Patricia Jones.

Making lanterns to give a teahouse atmosphere, Carl Grigsby and Stephen Decker earn class credit in Stagecraft. Sets included two off-stage military posts and the on-stage village area which became the teahouse in the last act.

Mrs. Webber displays a deft hand applying oriental make-up. The actress is Terry Wong who played the part of a dancer.

Sakini's gentle philosophy wins over the captain as Bill Barton and Bill Dyke portray their respective roles.

Scientists learn by visits, work

The show case in the Arsenal was the center of attention when the Chemistry-Physics Club exhibited four scientific displays at the beginning of the second semester. These displays demonstrated phenomena such as natural cave formations, the bending of an electron beam by a magnet, and frictionless motion studies with a dry ice puck.

Cincinnati proved interesting and fun for the Natural Science Club. Members, with their sponsor, Steven Lunsford, visited the Cincinnati Zoo and Coney Island Amusement Park, enjoying the sights and sounds. Other activities included trips to Allison's Powerama, the Butler Observatory, and the Solomon Caves near Bloomington.

In February, the XYZ Club visited the Mallory Institute of Technology. There, literature on computer technology and fields of mathematics and industry were gathered.

Preceding a trip to the Butler Holcomb Observatory was a lecture by Mr. Glover, an astronomy teacher at Tech. The introduction helped members understand what they saw.

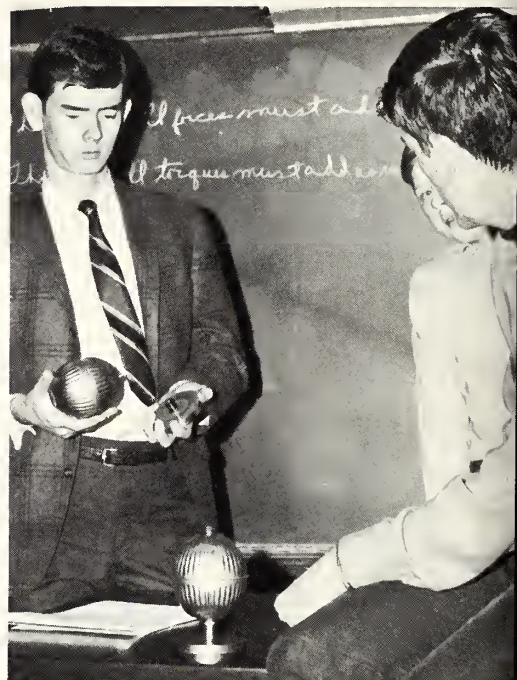

Among other activities were a hat toss at the Mardi Gras, parties, two movies, and the May tea for outstanding math students.

Music, Art clubs seek out local culture

Visits to the John Herron Museum of Art and the Oldfields Estate highlighted the Art Club's busy year. Members also made mobiles and other craft works.

The colorful background of Clowes Hall set the scene for Music Club members who went to hear the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. To add variety to its programs, the Music Club included music performed by groups from other schools.

Future, exploratory teachers look ahead

TAW played an important part in the busy year for Tech's Future Teacher of America Club. What does TAW stand for? Members explain that the initials represent Teacher Appreciation Week. During this week, each member served the teacher of her choice, grading papers and sometimes even teaching a lesson.

"Teacher, will you help me with my arithmetic?" Exploratory Teachers observed and tutored small groups and individuals. Assignments ranging from kindergarten to high school journalism previewed the variety of teaching positions available.

School, community demand pupil involvement

Enthusiasm abounded in the Red Cross Club as members undertook projects to help others. Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Lunsford, sponsor, the club stuffed Christmas stockings for children in hospitals, made Thanksgiving and St. Patrick's Day center pieces, packed an overseas chest for soldiers, and co-sponsored the Valentine Tea.

A conference and slumber party highlighted a busy year for the Tech Y-Teens. The girls were hostesses for the Y-Teens Mid-Winter Conference, "Hear It Like It Is," held at the YWCA. A slumber party the evening before the conference offered a fun-filled time for the girls who participated.

SAO Board advances school appreciation

Snoopy helped the S.A.O. Board promote enthusiasm and school spirit as he proudly proclaimed: "Happiness is . . . a Titan Victory" on buttons worn by Tech boosters. Selling badges was part of the program to encourage good sportsmanship and interest among Tech-ites. Colorful posters scattered around the halls reminded Titans to back their teams at various athletic events. Finally, by sponsoring the election of basketball queens, they hoped to generate interest and increase spirit during basketball season. They were looking for the spark that would light that fiery, fighting spirit in students . . . and must have found it, judging from the increased support and hearty cheers from proud Titans.

Three groups fight, fight, fight . . . for victory

The word this year for the Lettermen's Club is "spirit". Realizing the lack of support at games, Lettermen wanted to help Tech revive her drooping spirit. This year, the boys sat together in a block at games wearing their letter sweaters and showing their Tech spirit. Other activities included collecting toys for children, a hayride, and their annual Christmas dinner. A unique feature of this year's club is that for the first time a girl has become a member.

Challenging other clubs and groups to basketball and volleyball games was Tech's Girls Athletic Association. They pitted their strength and talent against teams consisting of teachers and students from various clubs on campus. In one encounter, GAA put up a gallant fight but lost their only volleyball game to Key Club. Competitive sports were not the only interest of the active GAA members. At the beginning of the year gymnastics was taught by Miss Chapman, a student teacher from Ball State University.

Outfitted in their loosefitting "ghis", Judo Club members learned and practiced the art of self-defense. Meeting one night each week, the girls learned the agile movements involved. Instructed by Mr. Karnes, recipient of a brown-belt, members found the necessity of regular practicing and exercising in order to maintain their skill. Judo certainly turned out to be a sport to make the fans "flip."

The life of a judo student can be both exciting and strenuous. June Davidson proves the point as she uses her new-found ability. She mobilizes wits and muscle power to show the proper manner of flipping her opponent, Stephanie Brooks.

Staff Powers School Routine

Offering a helping hand to confused or troubled Techites, the Tech administration coordinated the activities of over 5000 students. High standards in both social and academic endeavors were insured by the hard work of principals and counselors.

Principals head student activities

Freedom is a hard-bought gift because freedom means choice, and choice means responsibility. Each of us has a life to live. Choosing well how we shall live that life is no easy matter. We may say quickly, I want this, or I do not want that—to satisfy an immediate need. But the path of life goes on for many years, and from some of our choices there is little turning back. First choices, then, must be good ones.

To shape our freedom, we need critical thought based on education. We must look ahead to probable outcomes.

Tech provides the means of securing the education. It provides some of the experience needed to give perspective. It offers responsibility and the fruits of achievement. To learn the wise exercise of mature freedom, the Tech way is a good way to live.

Howard L. Longshore, Principal

Vice-Principal Robert V. Belding has a very busy day arranging schedules for students. He is also in charge of credit evaluation, curriculum, and permanent records of the school.

Vice-Principal Herman Hinshaw supervises pupil attendance and discipline problems. Formerly he was a varsity basketball coach and a teacher of physical education.

Vice-Principal James Stewart directs over 2600 students in the Evening School Division and maintains control over extended classes in many outlying industries as well as Mallory Center.

Vice-Principal Odus Landreth is administrative assistant to Mr. Longshore. He helps new students plan their programs. Also he is in charge of teachers and office personnel.

Kenneth Puckett, in his fifth year as vice-principal, is in charge of the school budget and has control of the maintenance of grounds and equipment.

Directors, assistants coordinate services

Director of Guidance Gaylord Allen provides information to college-bound pupils and conducts group testing programs. His office files catalogues of numerous colleges.

Director of Special Education, Wallace R. Potter designs programs and supervises records of pupils whose achievement is above average and those with learning problems.

Ernest H. Holmes, director of Industrial Cooperative Training and employment, heads the pupil group that is employed part-time in business and industry for school credit.

James N. Borshoff, assistant director of Tech Evening School, assists Vice Principal Stewart on campus, at Mallory Center, and in industry.

Donald Q. Daily, director of Neighborhood Youth Corps, assists in part-time job placement of students.

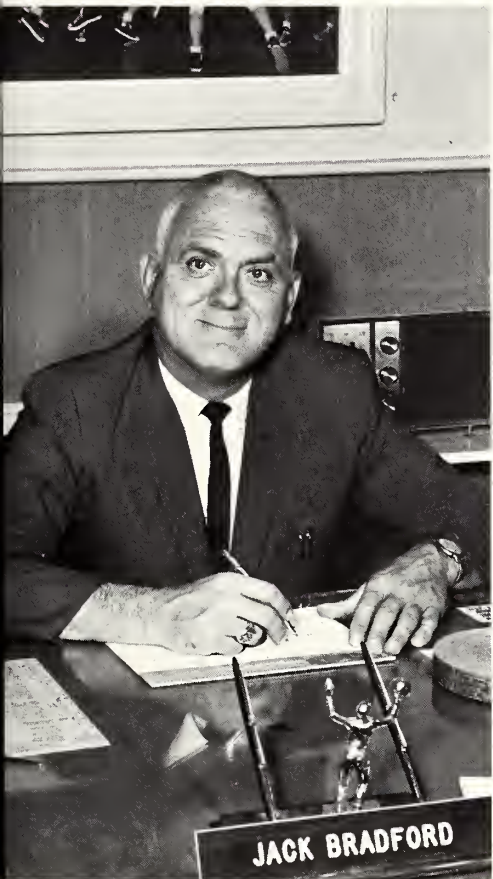

Director of Publications C. T. Tresslar combines the teaching of journalism with the production of the Arsenal Cannon weekly.

Kenneth Bayless, Evening School guidance director, has the responsibility of counseling with pupils on their courses and credits.

As director of student activities, Robert E. Meyer coordinates extra-curricular activities and heads the News Bureau that covers Tech events for communication media outside the school.

Athletic Director Jack B. Bradford coordinates athletic events. His office awards honor pins and sweaters to recognize individual athletes.

Lewis A. Marshall, director of shops, buildings and grounds, supervises maintenance of physical plant and equipment.

Head Librarian Marjorie Schock administers the Tech library for teachers and pupils.

Rudolph Wilson, dean of boys, aids Techites in problems of daily life. Trying to advance students toward good citizenship, he strives to better discipline and campus conduct.

Howard Catt, counselor with the dean of boys, is also a teacher of physical education and an athletic trainer.

Ernest Medcalfe is a counselor with the dean of boys, teaches craft art, coaches football, and sponsors the Prayer Circle.

Mahlon Carlock, counseling assistant to the dean of boys, combines his duties as disciplinary counselor with his work as a business education instructor.

A. Ray Reed, counseling assistant to the dean of boys, divides his time between the office and his classes in biology.

Ivan Moreman, counselor with the dean of boys, is also a teacher of physical education and coach of the baseball team.

Deans, counselors confer with pupils

Mrs. Margaret Hahn, English teacher, chats with Dean of Boys Wilson as dismissal crowds make their way to buses.

Guidance and discipline are specialties of Dean of Girls Mrs. Martha Turpin and Mrs. Barbara Dearing, her assistant. In addition, Mrs. Turpin sponsors the Student Affairs Organization.

Mrs. Dorothy Stout serves as a counseling assistant in the dean of girls' office, and teaches business education.

Counseling assistant to the dean of girls, Judith McBride has several English classes to add variety to her daily schedule.

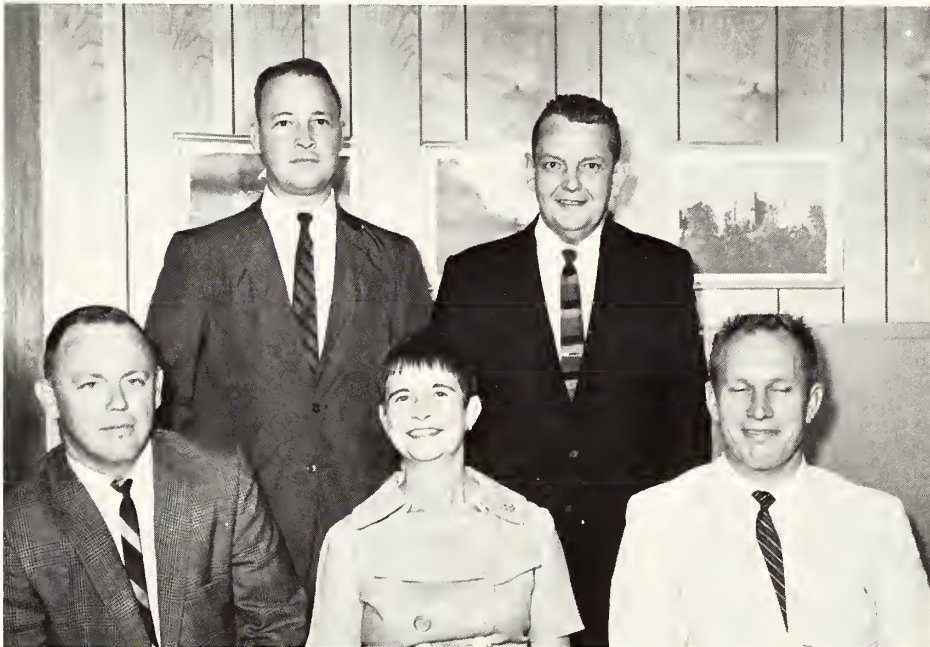

Taking a break from her physical education classes, Sharon Parrett helps in the dean of girls' office as a counseling assistant.

Mrs. Marjorie McCutcheon, Audio-Visual Director.

Floyd C. Tobrocke and Duane Blankenhorn visit junior high schools to advise pupils who will be entering Tech.

John C. Miner assists Mr. Belding in the preparation of pupil schedules and the adjustment of conflicts.

Counselors, nurses ease daily problems

Rowland Leverenz, school psychometrist, conducts individual tests in cooperation with guidance counselors.

School nurses, Mrs. Shirley Lundgren, Mrs. Betty Brodhecker, and Miss Blanche Williams are entrusted with health problems during the school day.

Assistant librarians, Barbara Lind and Monte F. Jines, help with the circulation of reading matter to teachers, pupils and departments.

Issuing Cannon subscription materials and selling athletic tickets, Bookstore personnel find their day consists of more than selling books and supplies. Taking time out: Mesdames La Verne Stewart, Frances Craig, Wilma Durham.

Custodians: Thomas Walker, Charles O. Britton.

"Technical"—the voice of Mrs. Jacqueline Patterson greets those who contact the school through its busy switchboard.

Evening School Office Staff—Mesdames Margaret Potter, Mary Pentecost, Mary Hoffman, Eileen Thompson, Mildred Langlotz.

Seniors Move on to New Goals

Seeing reflections of themselves in confused underclassmen, seniors acknowledged the growth and change occurring in four years—change in habits, goals, personalities and opinions. The progression of seasons on the Tech campus brought memories of activities enjoyed, challenges met.

With a choice of diplomas, seniors were prepared for various avenues of progress ahead.

Entering World of Business with Ads

Advertising plays an important part in the business life of America. To the advertiser, it is a way to meet his competitors on an equal basis. To the medium used, it is both a source of income and a way to help keep freedom of the press and broadcasting media alive. This is advertising, and it plays a major role in the economic success of America.

Friends, faculty, Titans . . . we salute you

One of the rewards of being a Cannon staffer is meeting interesting friends. "Cannon Kiddie" Debby Kuykendall chats with a bundled-up Mr. Perry after the Tech-Shortridge football game.

The final act of another hectic, yet fun-filled year draws to a close. For yearbook staffers it has been one of after-school work sessions, racking brains for cutlines and working diligently in the dark room. However, without the assistance of Cannon friends the 1969 yearbook could not have been completed.

Administrators have given permission for photo scheduling. Department heads and teachers have made room for reports and photographers in their already busy schedules. Thanks go to the Athletic Department in particular for cooperation in taking team photos. Bookstore personnel have cooperated in the distribution of subscription materials, the collection of money during the sales campaign, and have provided a center from which books were distributed.

The custodians at the Guard House have cared for "floating" photo equipment. Landes Cap and Gown have lent academic costumes on several occasions for photos of seniors.

We wish to note the courtesy of Mr. Richard Kennard of Newsfoto Publishing Company for color photos of the ROTC Federal Inspection. Thanks go also to Mr. William Wright of American Yearbook Company for color photos of the Broad Ripple game and for cooperation in supplying the film for the kick-off meeting for yearbook agents.

The senior sponsors receive our thanks for making numerous announcements about senior picture scheduling, and for much paper work in distributing and collecting senior data sheets.

Thanks go also to faculty members and friends for help in distribution of yearbooks at the autograph party.

To all these and to the many who have given us lighter moments to lighten the labor, we extend our thanks.

Mother-of-the Cannon Office Mrs. Betty Rowland works around a school "drop-in" to keep financial records in order.

Thanks to the Titan student body for the many photographs in which they were willing subjects.

No telling where a story, a photo, or an ad sale will take a staffer! Onward and upward, Diana Biggerstaff!
